Proposed 28th Amendment to the United States Constitution

Proposed 28th Amendment to the United States Constitution. No one has been able to explain to me why young men and women serve in the U.S. Military for 20 years, risking their lives protecting our freedom and only get 50% of their pay. While Politicians hold their political positions in the safe confines of the capital, protected by these same men and women, and receive full pay retirement after serving only one term.

It just does not make any sense.

Recently on Fox News, they learned that the staffers of Congressional family members are exempt from having to pay back student loans. This will get national attention if other news networks will broadcast it. When you add this to the above, just where will all of it stop?

Thirty-five States have filed lawsuits against the Federal Government. Governors of 35 states have filed suits against the Federal Government for imposing unlawful burdens upon them. It only takes 38 (of the 50) States to convene a Constitutional Convention.

This will take less than thirty seconds to read. If you agree, please pass it on.
